Art Unit: 3654

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Slutz. Slutz shows in combination, a powered vehicle and an apparatus suitable for use in conjunction with the powered vehicle to lay out and take up a long length, wide flexible sheeting material, the apparatus consisting essentially of:

a framework (14) mounted on the powered vehicle such as to be carried over a ground surface by the vehicle (see figure 4);

an arbor assembly (20) including a cylindrical mandrel carrying sheet material;

a pick up arm (16, 18) extending outwardly from the framework (14) at each end thereof;

a grasping mechanism (70) for mounting the arbor assembly on each of said pick up arms;

a hydraulic system (110) mounted at one end of the mandrel; and an electric motor (134) mounted on the framework (14, see figure 7).

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Slutz in view of Sylvester et al or Haddon. Slutz shows the basic claimed vehicle attachment for laying flexible sheeting, as detailed above. It has a grasping mechanism with pivoted latch (66) but the latch varies from claim 2 as it does not form a rectangular opening. Sylvester shows a vehicle attached tool bar with clamps with square openings to prevent rotation. Haddon shows a motor mounted in a square clamp to prevent its rotation. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made by applicant to modify the clamps (66) of Slutz by having the openings as rectangular shaped, to better grip the arbor assembly and prevent the ends from rotating within the clamps, as taught by Sylvester et al or as taught by Haddon.

5. Applicant's remarks in the amendment filed December 30, 2005, have been fully considered, but are deemed moot in view of the above new rejections. The amendment necessitated the new grounds, accordingly,

Art Unit: 3654

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
